The T4T - Tools4Teaching in Digital Education

Settings project focuses on supporting adult educators and formal, non-formal and informal education providers to effectively transition to digital education and provide the same level of interaction and 'human-like' experience for learners as in the physical environment. The overall aim is to strengthen the capacity of adult educators and training professionals to build and maintain effective group dynamics in digital education environments to better engage their online learners.

LAST TRANSNATIONAL PARTNER MEETING IN ŠIAULIAI, LITHUANIA

At the latest transnational meeting, hosted by Lithuanian partner EDUPRO on 11 and 12 September 2023 in Šiauliai, partners from Greece, Spain, Bulgaria, the Netherlands, Lithuania and Poland discussed project results and practical exercises in a mixed setting.

A key focus was the dissemination of the project, with the Greek partners sharing insights and strategies for wider engagement. The meeting addressed the utilisation of project results and sustainable impact, leading to joint steps for continued positive impact after the completion of the project.

After two successful years, all partners are satisfied with the results achieved and look forward to working together on future projects!

MULTIPLIER EVENTS

We are celebrating the success of our MEs! With 237 participants, we exceeded our target of 180. The events received positive feedback. Participants, including educators and professionals, showed great interest in using the new tools. The events effectively disseminated practical exercises, guidelines and digital tools in the partner countries.

Although participants suggested more interactivity, more practical examples and better networking opportunities for improvement, overall satisfaction was high. The MEs emphasised the impact of the project and fostered a shared commitment to promoting effective online education practises. Cheers to shared success!

DIGITAL TEACHING COMMUNITY

THIRD TRANSNATIONAL PARTNER MEETING IN LODZ, POLAND

The conclusion of our project is not a farewell, but a continuation of our endeavours. We are determined to disseminate and utilise the results we have achieved. On our website you will find a wealth of materials that we have produced:
